the economy

Posted by jend - 20 Aug 2009 13:59

This is an interesting documentary which explains how our money system works.

I know you're busy, but you should make the time to watch this. As the dollar continues its slow decline, it is important that we educate ourselves as to what is really going on here so that we can potentially fix it.

Ignoring a problem doesn't make it go away.

Hence, look around...

Zeitgeist Addendum Documentary:

(the beginning is a little slow, but stick with it...it gets interesting)

IMF calls for dollar alternative bailout tracker: hosted.ap.org/specials/interactives/_bus...t_tracker/index.html

Dollar should be replaced as international standard, U.N. report says

Faced with bailout or collapse, should US choose collapse?

Wall Street Apocalypse: The World of the Doomsday Investors

Europe's debt crisis poses emerging threat to world economic stability

Dow ends worst May in 70 years

The U.S. Economic Collapse Top 20 Countdown

25 Questions To Ask Anyone Who Is Delusional Enough To Believe That This Economic Recovery Is Real

Deutsche Bank: U.S. Financial Conditions Just Collapsed Back To Crisis Levels

Detroit Shrinks Itself, Historic Homes and All

Job recovery hits a wall

Smell of economic death

US Money Supply Plunges At 1930's Pace And Housing Index Dives

Wait! Was that the recovery?

Shipping Our Economy, Our Jobs And Our Prosperity To China

Federal, state and local debt hits post-WWII levels

The Deliberate Lies That Shift Attention Away From The Economy

Welfare State: Handouts Make Up One-Third of U.S. Wages

==========